Appendix B: Fitness to Study Procedure

1. Introduction

Morley College London is committed to supporting student wellbeing and recognises that a positive approach to health is integral to students' achievement. As outlined in the Student Support Policy we are committed meeting the AOC Mental Health and Wellbeing Charter.

Fitness to Study relates to an individual's capacity to participate fully as a student both with their studies and with the social aspects of College life generally. This procedure outlines the steps to be taken by the College when there is concern that a student's health has the potential to adversely affect the student themselves or of others in the College community.

Decisions made concerning a student's fitness to study are made through a collective, supportive process, after appropriate consultation and after consideration of the student's ability to study, learn effectively and complete their course successfully.

Please note that prior to enrolment the College reserves the right to request further information or evidence from a student if they have concerns regarding their fitness to study. All students are expected to meet the standards set out within the Code of Conduct. When a staff member has such concerns a meeting should be arranged to discuss the suitability of the course before the student is enrolled.

Issues arising from this procedure may be dealt with in accordance with the College's Safeguarding procedures when appropriate.

- 1.1 The term 'fitness to study' as used in this document relates to the entire student experience, and not just a student's ability to engage with their studies. For example, the College expects its students to be able to live in harmony with others, and conduct themselves in ways which have a positive impact on those around them.
- 1.2 Whilst all students at the College must conform to certain standards of behaviour it is recognised that issues of concern which may lead to behaviour which is not of the standard expected level can be due to health and wellbeing issues. The purpose of this procedure is to identify the steps to be taken when students are no longer meeting the behaviours expected by the College.
- 1.3 A student's fitness to study may be questioned if health problems are disrupting their own studies or the student experience of others, or result in unreasonable demands being placed on staff or other students.

2. Circumstances under which a student's fitness to study should be considered

2.1 The list below includes examples of circumstances where a student's fitness to study might be considered, although this is not exhaustive:

- Where a student is affected by medical conditions that require long periods of absence and treatment.
- When there is a disruption to teaching, learning and support of other students or where unreasonable demands are being made on staff or students due to deterioration in the physical or mental health of a student.
- Where there is a potential risk to a student or others due to deterioration in the student's physical or mental health.

3. Fitness to Study Procedure

Emerging Concern

3.1 Wherever possible we will seek to address these concerns informally, using the supportive processes outlined above. These concerns typically, although not exclusively, would centre on attendance, behaviour in the classroom and engagement in the course. For students under the age of 18 the College will involve the parent/guardian in all matters related to an Emerging Concern.

3.2 Where the informal processes have not resolved the issues, then we move to the more formal procedure below.

Serious or Continuing Concern

3.2 The relevant curriculum lead (or equivalent) should be informed of the concerns being raised.

3.3 The relevant curriculum lead (or equivalent) should arrange a meeting with the relevant curriculum staff present and any other staff from the curriculum area and/or professional services as is considered appropriate in the individual circumstances. There should normally be two members of staff present at the meeting except in exceptional circumstances.

- 3.4 At least 5 working days' notice should be given to students prior to the meeting.
- 3.5 The student should be made aware of the purpose of the meeting and that they may be accompanied at the meeting by a relative, friend, student representative or support worker (including a Health or Social care professional), but not by a legal or other professional adviser unless the College otherwise agrees. For students under the age of 18 a parent/guardian must be in attendance at the meeting. In the event that the student is unable or unwilling to attend, the meeting may go ahead in their absence, if the College considers it reasonable to do so. However, the College should offer to rearrange the meeting at least once. Refusing to attend the meeting may also trigger the Significant or Persistent concern stage of the procedure.
- 3.6 A Serious or Continuing Concern panel may seek a medical assessment, usually from the student's GP or medical practitioner. If the student refuses their studies may be suspended until evidence that they are fit to study can be provided.
- 3.7 The meeting will consider whether the student is able to participate as a student, in relation to progressing with academic studies and life at college and whether any support needs can be met by the College's support services.
- 3.8 If this is considered possible, an action plan will be agreed between the curriculum lead (or equivalent) and the student detailing a timeline and milestones the student will need to meet along with details of the support to be provided to the student. A decision should be made by the Deputy Head or Head of School who is responsible for monitoring the plan. The student should be made aware of what will happen if the action plan is breached, which will normally involve their case moving to the Significant or Persistent Concern stage.
- 3.9 If it is not possible for the parties to agree on an appropriate plan Significant or Persistent stage of the procedure will be initiated.
- 3.10 The outcome of the Serious or Continuing Concern meeting should be recorded, with any agreed actions and timescale, sent to the student within 10 working days or before the student's next class by the HOS.

Significant or Persistent Concern

- 3.11 The Significant or Persistent Concern stage can be reached through an escalation of Serious or Continuing concern or directly if the concerns identified by the College are serious, persistent or have become critical i.e. the student's behaviour is putting health and safety or the well-being of self or others at risk. It may also be invoked if a student has previously had their studies suspended through this procedure and the same issues have arisen on being re-admitted to College.
- 3.12 The Chair of the Serious or Continuing Concern Panel, relevant Head of School (or professional services equivalent), may call a Significant or Persistent Concern Fitness to Study meeting.
- 3.13 The meeting will normally be chaired by a member of Senior Management Team (SMT). At the discretion of the panel Chair, the panel may include relevant members of academic staff or professional services staff. The membership of the panel will be at the discretion of the Chair as is most appropriate taking into account the circumstances but a quorum of 2 must apply. A minute taker will also be present.
- 3.14 At least 5 working days' notice should be given to students prior to the meeting.

- 3.15 The Panel may request medical evidence. The student will be invited to attend the meeting and informed that he or she may be accompanied by a relative, friend, student representative, support worker (but not by a legal or other professional adviser unless the College otherwise agrees). For students under the age of 18 a parent/guardian must be in attendance at the meeting. In the event that the student is unable or unwilling to attend, the meeting may go ahead in his or her absence if the College considers it reasonable to do so. However, the College should offer to rearrange the meeting at least once.
- 3.16 At Significant or Persistent Concern Panel, the student's support needs will be discussed and various options considered. These will be either; A continuation of studies with an action plan in place with review date. A break from study, a period of suspension. A recommendation for withdrawal or exclusion of the student.
- 3.17 In cases where a suspension or postponement of studies is recommended by the College, a clear time frame should be given to the student. The provision of appropriate documentation/medical evidence within that time frame will be a condition of re-entry to the programme of study.
- 3.18 The decision made by the panel will be notified to the student within 10 working days of the meeting. The student will be advised of their right to appeal against the decision and informed how that appeal should be lodged and in what timescale. Any appeal must be based on new evidence coming to light or on the basis that the process had not been adhered to.
- 3.19 Should a student be unwilling or unable to take part at any stage of the procedure or to attend a meeting, the College may nonetheless follow the procedure where it is reasonable to do so. In addition, the College will consider any request from the student to proceed with a meeting in their absence on the basis of written reports and/or a written statement from the student.
- 3.20 A note of the meetings and panels shall be kept on the College record system.

4. Right of appeal

- 4.1 The student may appeal the decision made at Significant or Persistent Concern Panel by appealing in writing to the Vice Principal (Education Strategy and Policy). This appeal must be lodged within 10 working days of the Panel meeting. The appeal should be made on the basis of new evidence or due process not being followed.
- 4.2 If the appeal is accepted, the Vice Principal (Education Strategy and Policy). may choose to meet with the student after reviewing the paperwork of the earlier meetings.
- 4.3 The decision of the Vice Principal (Education Strategy and Policy). will be final. They reserve the right to request a further meeting with relevant staff and / or the student or may choose to make a decision based on evidence already considered.

5. Return to Study and Support Moving Forward

- 5.1 Any return to study at the College, including either re-joining the same course or commencing a different course, following the withdrawal or suspension should be agreed by the appropriate Head of School, with the advice of the Additional Learning Support Manager and/or Safeguarding and Wellbeing Manager, in advance of any return
- 5.2 If the Head of School does not feel that the student's health has improved to a level where they could re-join the College a Significant or Persistent Concern Panel meeting shall be instigated the review the case

5.3 If the student is under the age of 18 any suspension or postponement of studies will be communicated to the Local Authority where the student resides as detailed in our Process for Support Early Leavers.
